election to such presidency was in support of the principle-which principle is the eradication from League councils of the unfair, unjust and unsportsmanlike methods which have so marred its actions in the past. In other words, the elimination of what is known as 'Brushism' and 'Freedmanism, without any antagonism to the personalities of Messrs. Brush and Freedman, who were and are the authors and exponents of said 'isms. "Resolved. That we know of no reason why we should abandon that policy, and we believe that Mr. A. G. Spalding is the ideal and practical leader to enforce it. "Resolved, That, inasmuch as the question as to the validity of his election to the office of said presidency is now pending in the Supreme Court of the city of New York, and as arguments by counsel pro and con on that subject will be made during the first week of next month, that it would be unwise and unpolitic for us to make any further declaration at present other than that we will abide by the decision of that court and will join in the convening of a meeting of the eight clubs of the National League either in recognition of Mr. Spalding as president thereof, or, in the eevnt of an adverse decision of the court, for the purpose of filling the vacancy thus declared to exist in that office in accordance with the constitution of the said League, and with the rules of parliamentary law.

WHITRIDGE IS SLATED. He Is Accused of Being a Contract | the American League, and he predicts a Jumper of First Water.

It is reported that Al Whitridge, a professional pitcher, who resides in Indianapolis, is a contract jumper. It is claimed that he signed a contract with the Kansas City American Association Club and accepted $100 advance money, and then signed to pitch for the Denver Western League Club. It is hardly necessary to say that Whitridge cannot do such a thing and not expect to hear from it. He will learn more about sire, as the Kansas City club will not let the matter pass unnoticed, and if there is not a way of holding him to his contract to play with Kansas City, that club hopes to find means to hold him to a criminal offense for accepting the advance money

We will not recognize contract jumpers or encourage such business. We do not recognize reserves, but we have the highest regard for a contract that has been signed Regarding the statement that Pitcher Stimmel is under a two years' contract with the Cincinnati club and has signed to play with St. Paul, I will say that St. Paul will not use him if it is shown positively that Stimmel signed a two years' contract with Cincinnati. When the baseball settlement comes, and it seems a near future possibility, the contract-jumper will receive all the attention he deserves, and that will be plenty. He will be subjected to such a blacklist that he will have to change his occupation and do something else for a livelihood. The club owner or manager who has been a party to this nefarious business will also find that he is no longer desired in the company of organized baseball interests. The National League has held aloof from dealing with contract-jumpers and the only organization that is underhanded enough to make a wholesale practice of it is the Western League. What will happen to that organization in view of the sudden change in the baseball horizon is not a matter of conjecture entirely, for it is easy to predict that it will have a harder life to lead than ever before and may have to go down to a smaller circuit than ever dreamed of. The death knell of Whitfield's organization will no doubt soon be sounded.

Adrian C. Anson was in Cincinnati last week and he took occasion to say a few things about A. G. Spalding and also something nice about the American Association.

"It looks as if they had my old friend, A. G. Spalding, in a jam," said Anson. "I'm not at all surprised. When nearly everybody was singing his praises I predicted that he couldn't deliver the goods. He has been bottled up on every proposition he has made. He did not tell the truth when he said the Chicago club gave me the stock I held in that club, and when I replied to him he remained silent. He has closed up like a clam so often when statements he made have been called that he has lost almost the entire following he once had. Enthusiasts who expected so much from him, after seeing so many of his assertions disproved, do not now believe he is on the level, I know him better than some of those who believed in him. I had twenty-two years' experience with him, and look how he treated me. He messed the League up pretty badly himself; tried to put Ban Johnson in a false light, and the finishing touches to his botch work were put on at Buffalo by Jim Hart. " " That fight on the American Association, under Spalding's orders, is unjust. The people behind those clubs deserve encouragement rather than abuse. They'll win out, too. I spent five days in New York, but did not get to see Spalding, although I was at the Fifth-avenue and he was at the Albemarle, just across the street. I was given to understand that I could meet him if I'd make statement to his liking, but I wouldn't do

Indianapolis Leagues Will Consider the Scheme This Week.

The scheme to hold a state bowling tournament in this city this spring has been greatly encouraged by the Indianapolis bowlers and personal letters will be sent to all the best bowlers in the State asking them to enter the tournament. If a sufficient number of bowlers enter the tournament will be held. The schedule would be so arranged that Indiana teams competing . could come to Indianapolis one day, roll their games and leave that night. It is hoped to secure enough entries to require a week to play out the schedule. The project will be considered by the Independent League to-day and the Indianapolis League will take up the matter the first of the week. The L. B. L. season will close the last of March and it is proposed to hold the state tournament about the first week of April.
